Master of Science in European Economy and Business Law

This interdisciplinary Programme in European Studies aims to meet the demand for experts in public administration and transnational bodies operating at a global level.

Students will specialise in applying economics to public policy issues and will acquire the background knowledge and analytical skills required to understand the economic basis of market integration, how European institutions work and the challenges Europe is facing in an increasingly globalised world.

The Master of Science in European Economy and Business Law is taught entirely in English and will give students a competitive advantage in a number of fields: Economics, European Institutions, Management and Market Regulation.
